Describes "Concession" Beef as That Which Lies in Cooler Until Mouldy—Admits He Handled It as a Butcher.

Partly decayed meat, which had been treated chemically to hide its condition, as well as sausages containing potato, flour, unhealthy kidneys ground up and other adulterations were sold in St. Louis and the other large cities of the country, between Aug. 21, 1899, and May 1, 1902, by the members of the packers' trust, according to testimony given today by Thomas L. O'Sullivan, meat and live stock inspector of St. Louis.

O'Sullivan was the first witness called by Attorney-General Crow, when the taking of testimony was resumed by Supreme Court Commissioner L. N. Kelly in the Beef Trust Inquiry today. The hearing was held in the judges' consultation room in the courthouse and Judge Alexander New and Frank Hagerman of Kansas City appeared as counsel for the packers.

O'Sullivan testified that before being appointed inspector he had been in the butchering business for upwards of 20 years.

Regarding the packers' combine, which he said in this city included the St. Louis Dressed Beef and Provision Co., the Armour company, Swift & Co., Nelson Morris & Co. and the Cudahy company, controlling prices and having an agreement to charge the same prices for the different grades of meat, witness said he had been told by representatives of several of the companies that such an agreement existed. He also said he had been notified of advances in prices ahead of their going into effect, and that all the concerns mentioned advanced their prices at the same time.

Asked regarding "concession" meat, O'Sullivan said: "It is meat that has been kept in the coolers too long and has become mouldy and partly spoiled."

"What is done with it?" asked Mr. Crow.

"It is washed with some sort of chemical so that its condition cannot be noticed and then sold at any price they can get for it," replied O'Sullivan.

On further questioning the witness admitted that he had himself bought some of the "concession" meat, when he was a dealer and sold it again, but he added that it was of the better quality and the parts of it he sold were all right. He then told of the adulteration of sausage.

At noon a recess was taken until 2 o'clock when the hearing will be resumed.

$30,000,000 CAR TRUST TO ABSORB ST. LOUIS FIRMS

J. G. Brill Co., of Philadelphia, Has Already Bought American Car Co. of This City and Is Negotiating for Three Other Concerns.

As announced exclusively in the Post-Dispatch Sunday, the purchase by J. G. Brill Co., of Philadelphia of the plant of the American Car Company of St. Louis was the second step toward the consummation of a trust in the manufacture of street cars.

It is stated on reliable authority that negotiations are now on for the absorption of the three remaining local concerns, the St. Louis Car Company, the Laclede Car Company and the Brownell Car Company. The deal extends further to Chicago and Troy, N. Y.

Two local trust companies are said to be acting for the eastern manufacturers.

The first step in the present movement was made some months ago when the Brill company, then but a small concern, negotiated with a vastly increased capital the netted in the aggregate $9,000,000, making it the largest capitalized manufacturer of street cars in the world, a distinction heretofore held by the St. Louis Car Co.

A dispatch to a local broker late Monday afternoon asserted without reservation that it was the intention of Brill to increase the capital to $20,000,000, under the laws of New Jersey, if certain negotiations now pending in St. Louis could be successfully consummated.

The American Car Co. was purchased last Friday at a trustee's sale for $26,000. This includes the plant and grounds at Old Manchester road and Tower Grove avenue, the stock of cars, fixtures, patterns, and, in fact, every asset of the company. William B. Thompson and Henry B. Denker of the Boatmen's Bank are named as trustees.

The American Car Co. was incorporated April 7, 1891, with a capital of $100,000. William Sutton was president, Theophile P. Phipps vice-president, Emil Alexander secretary and L. H. Tomtrup treasurer.

It is regarded by expert car builders as a plant of much promise. The last statement of the company in March, 1902, showed the assets aggregated $200,000.

FIRM IN GOOD CONDITION.
Mr. William B. Thompson, trustee of the American, is also vice-president and director in the Brownell Car Co., of which Ford W. Thompson has been trustee since the death of Mr. F. B. Brownell, 14 months ago.

The other officer is Marcellus B. Richardson, secretary and treasurer. The plant is at 2200 North Broadway. The company did not make detailed statements of its condition, its last assurance to the stockholders and public by the directors being that the assets exceed the liabilities by from $225,000 to $250,000.

The Laclede Car Co., 4500 to 4600 North Second street, has a capital stock of $80,000, with a surplus of $150,000, and with a net worth rating of $200,000. James P. Kelly is president, Edward J. Robinson vice-president and general manager and Abe Cook secretary and treasurer.

The St. Louis Car Co., heretofore the chief mark of interest to the trust formulators, is at 8000 North Broadway, in Baden.

"The St. Louis Car Co. is not for sale at any price," declared Mr. Kobusch emphatically. He declined, however, to discuss a merger, denouncing the whole scheme as ridiculous.

The head of a prominent Fourth street house is authority for the statement that the plan originated with Mr. Kobusch, in that four years ago he attempted to consolidate all the St. Louis houses and then to deal for a merger with Philadelphia and Troy plants.

A Cincinnati brokerage firm was manipulating the deal, but it failed at the fifth hour by the attitude of hostility assumed by the directors of the American Car Co. and the Brownell Car Co.

The absorption of the former by Brill last week and the further act that its interest were closely allied to these in control of the Brownell Co. since the death of Mr. Brownell, are taken as the removal of a great obstacle in the way of the trust formation.

ONLY ONE HITCH.
According to this broker, the only hitch apparent now is the attitude Mr. Kobusch and other directors of the St. Louis Car Co., who wish to maintain their identity and to have a large voice in the affairs of the trust management. One of the most prominent trust companies in the city, it is said, has undertaken to conciliate the bidden faction.

"There is a deal on foot, and it is a safe bet that it will go through," said the broker.

The Gilbert Car Works of Troy, N. Y., are also to be negotiated for. It is understood further than if the trust becomes a reality there will be a deal by the terms of which the Pullman company will cease to build street cars.

"WARMER" QUOTH THE BIRD
Thus the Weather Sage, With an Up-Wink of His Eye—Dr. Hyatt Agrees.

"Generally fair and warmer Tuesday night and Wednesday," chirps the Weather Bird.

Only a few days ago the Bird was looking for a nocturnal perch under the shelter of a thick foliage to fend off the frost.

Now the little prophet sleeps out in the open, with his shoes off, so balmy are the nights.

Last week the Bird brought a warm autumn topcoat, with a velvet collar; but he has laid that by for the present and has returned to his summer suit.

WIFE'S HYPOTHESIS APPLIED IN FACT

Attorney Johnson's Opinion if a Certain Man Did Certain Things.

ACTUAL MAN HEARD REMARKS RESENTING THEM HE USED RATHER STRONG LANGUAGE.

Then the Assistant City Attorney Put Him Out of His Office—Couple Had Called to Have Domestic Troubles Settled.

Edward M. Schwarzkopf of 4617 Westminster place, general agent, for a large insurance concern, visited the warrant office Tuesday morning and apologized to Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Richard M. Johnson for his part in a dramatic incident that took place there Monday afternoon, at the conclusion of which the attorney pushed the insurance man out of the office.

Monday afternoon Mrs. Edward M. Schwarzkopf, a handsome woman of about 35 years, entered the warrant office in company with a man whom Mr. Johnson did not know.

"I have brought a client of mine to you," said the stranger, "that she may explain her business and get your assistance."

Mrs. Schwarzkopf proceeded to explain that she and her husband had had a disagreement, and that they had decided to leave the settlement of the matter in his hands as an officer of the law.

LISTENED SYMPATHETICALLY.
She told the attorney that her husband had taken her family jewels and pawned them. She recited a long list of grievances, alleging various wrongs at Mr. Schwarzkopf's hands. In conclusion she said she was the mother of nine children.

The man with whom she entered the office stood mute all this time, watching the expression upon the face of the prosecuting officer.

Mr. Johnson supposed him to be a lawyer who had done his best to settle the family difficulty of his client and as a last resort had brought her to the warrant office.

Mr. Johnson is a sympathetic man, despite his official position. A pretty woman, an particularly appeals to him, and when she has a story of marital misdoings, a assistant prosecuting attorney, who hears daily many tales of woe, turns deaf ear.

Mr. Johnson heard the woman's story with concern, and when she had finished he said she was highly indignant.

OBJECT OF WRATH PRESENT.
He emptied the vials of his wrath in expressing an opinion upon the supposedly absent head of Mr. Schwarzkopf. He told the woman just what he thought of a man who would treat his wife in such a manner. It was an opinion to make a man's ears tingle three miles away.

"Where is your husband, madam?" inquired Mr. Johnson, at length.

ASKS AN INJUNCTION AGAINST FIGHTERS AND CLUB OFFICIALS

Hearing on Attorney General's Petition to Be Held Thursday Morning—Attorney for Fighters Will Appeal From Adverse Decision.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 16.—In accordance with instructions received from Gov. Beckham, Attorney-General Pratt filed today in the County Court a petition for an injunction, seeking to prevent the contest scheduled to take place before the Southern Athletic Club at the Auditorium here next Monday night from being held in this city.

This motion for the injunction will be argued before Judge Emmett Field of the common pleas division of the Circuit Court Thursday morning, and it is expected that a decision will be handed down promptly in order that the status of the contest can be determined at once. Should the decision be against the match, the fighters' attorneys say the case will be taken at once to the court of appeals, and will be pushed through in ample time for the contest.

The defendants in the suit are Terry McGovern, Sam H. Harris, his manager, Young Corbett, John F. Corbett, his manager, James J. Corbett, the referee; Wm. Nobe Connelly Telegraphs the Post-Dispatch That He Has Found the Missing Ex-Delegate—St. Louis Authorities Take Action.

SEVERAL CLEWS HAVE FAILED

Fugitive Was Reported at Stamps, Ark., Saturday and at Okawville, Ill., Yesterday—Grandjury in Session.

TELEGRAMS TO THE POST-DISPATCH.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 16. Post-Dispatch, St. Louis, Mo. May leave this afternoon; am positive as to identity; he leve can bring to St. Louis tonight with of trouble or arrest. NOBE CONNELLEY. LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 16. Post-Dispatch, St. Louis, Mo. Have Kelly located here. Refer to County Judge Kavanaugh, Judge Ed. field. NOBE CONNELLEY.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon Circuit Attorney Folk, acting upon the telegrams received by the Post-Dispatch from Nobe Connelly at Little Rock, instructed Chief Kelly to wire the chief of police at Little Rock to immediately arrest the man whom Connelly thinks is Kelly.

It is not probable that the man at Little Rock is Kelly, but Mr. Folk said he would not let the possibility go without investigation.

Telegrams received Tuesday by the Post-Dispatch state that Charles F. Kelly, the fugitive distributor of the $75,000 bribe for the passage of the lighting bill, has been found at Little Rock, Ark.

Nobe Connelly, the signer of the dispatches, refers to two county judges at the Arkansas capital as evidence of his veracity.

Previous clues to Kelly's supposed whereabouts have been followed up without the desired result. It was reported yesterday that he was in Okawville, Ill., but investigation showed that a mistake had been made.

A report of Kelly's presence in Stamps, Ark., a lumber town near Texarkana, was contradicted Monday, after gaining some credence.

KELLY WASN'T IN THE DRESS

Deputy Marshal John McAuliffe of the Dayton Street Police Court is the central figure in the most interesting story that has reached the grandjury since the search for Charles F. Kelly commenced.

The story is that Kelly, guarded by Ed Butler and about eight other men, went to McAuliffe's residence, 530 North Whittier street, shortly before midnight Saturday, and that while there Kelly donned a black silk dress and was escorted to a new hiding place by Butler et al. in this disguise.

The deputy marshal was taken from his desk in Judge Tracy's court Monday morning and brought to Circuit Court's office on account of the rumored melodramatic episode at his home.

To Mr. Folk McAuliffe denied very emphatically all the details of the story, except that there were a party of men at his home Saturday night.

McAuliffe declared that the story was inspired, in his opinion, by political opponents of the faction of Twenty-sixth ward Democrats with which he is allied.

DISCUSSED WARD POLITICS.

"There was a meeting of city employees at my house Saturday night for the purpose of discussing our ward and precinct organization. It started about 8 o'clock and did not continue later than 10:15 o'clock," said McAuliffe.

"It was the 13th of the month and there were just 13 in the party. Somebody remarked that the situation was unlucky. I saw now that he was right."

"Neither Ed Butler nor Charles Kelly was there. They do not live in the ward. I haven't seen Kelly there since he was making speeches for Tinker two years ago. Butler is not interested in our ward organization."

"The story that was given to the grandjury I think was started by somebody that is opposed to us politically and wanted it to appear that Butler was trying to run our ward."

"I was astonished when Mr. Folk sent for me and told me why he wanted to see me."

TWO DEPUTIES PRESENT.

"The idea of anybody coming into that meeting and disguising himself in a woman's dress is ridiculous. Whoever saw the party come out must have mistaken a man in a long black coat for a man in a woman's dress."

"I think it was Deputy Sheriff Ben Heet that wore the long coat. Tom Stanton, another deputy sheriff, was also present. They both live in the ward. If anybody wanted to disguise Charles Kelly they would hardly bring him into a meeting where two of the party were deputy sheriffs."

"The story, as secret brought to the home was revealed by two of the ringers, by mistake, the bell that reside above the McAuliffes."

The young woman, who her mother, in flimsy edge of the story, "I don't know Kelly."

MYSTERY ABOUT BANKER'S DEATH

Millionaire Nicholas Fish Was Assaulted in Saloon.

PRIVATE DETECTIVE IS HELD

TWO WOMEN IN FISH'S CROWD
ALSO ARRESTED.

When Detective, Who Was Drinking
With Party, Questioned Fish's
Ability to Negotiate a Check,
a Fight Was Started.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The police are still seeking for the exact facts which led up to the death of Nicholas Fish, the banker, who was found with his skull fractured in front of a saloon in West Thirty-fourth street toward the afternoon and who died early this morning in Roosevelt Hospital.

Mrs. Libbie J. Phillips, 28 years of age; Mrs. Nellie Casey, 29 years old, and Thomas Sharkey, 34 years old, a private detective, were arrested early today in connection with the case.

According to the police, Mr. Fish entered Ehrhardt's saloon, 23 West Thirty-fourth street, yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Casey. The police say that Mrs. Phillips knew what was going on, but that neither Mrs. Casey nor Sharkey, who subsequently joined the party, were aware of his identity.

Sharkey, who knew the women, was not reluctant to join the party when one of the women invited him to. The police say that Fish did most of the buying. Fish then discovered that his money was exhausted, and he announced that he would have to draw a check.

Sharkey, however, ignorant of Fish's identity, questioned his ability to make his check good.

Fish, it is said, took offense at this, and angry words ensued. Then, according to the police, someone slapped Fish's face. One of the women, clinging to Fish's arm, dragged him toward the door of the saloon, and out to the sidewalk.

The police say that Sharkey attempted to follow Fish, but was for a moment restrained from doing so by the other woman. He finally went out of the saloon, and he and Fish encountered each other on the sidewalk. Sharkey's hat has been knocked off and he was arrested. There was a scuffle, by whom commenced it is not known.

Fish fell or was knocked down, his head striking a flagstone on the sidewalk. Mrs. Casey, becoming alarmed, hurriedly left the party. After Fish fell, it is said that Sharkey entered the saloon and then left it and went into a saloon a few doors away and a moment later left that place and boarded a street car.

He was closely followed by Mrs. Phillips, who was carrying his hat and who also boarded the car. She was followed by a crowd of about thirty people, and a crowd gathered about the sidewalk and some carried him into the hallway of the saloon and tried to revive him.

Being unsuccessful, they again took him to the street, thinking he might revive there.

He was lying on the street when a policeman appeared. The officer called an ambulance from Roosevelt Hospital. Fish's identity was not learned until the hospital was reached and his clothing searched. As soon as it was learned who he was, he was taken to a private patient.

Mrs. Casey, Mrs. Phillips and Sharkey were arrested today in the police court and were held for the coroner. A detective said to the sitting magistrate that the prisoners were arrested as suspicious persons in connection with the death of Nicholas Fish.

Mrs. Casey denied all knowledge of the case. Mrs. Phillips, when questioned about the case, said: "You'll find out later."

Fish was a partner in the Bluewing Plan, president of the Illinois Central Railroad, and was a millionaire. He was once United States minister to Belgium. Hamilton Fish, the first member of the Rough Riders command killed.

Coroner Jackson held Sharkey in $10,000 bail and Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Casey in $500 bail, as witnesses.

Sharkey made the following statement preliminary to his arraignment: "I went into Ehrhardt's and saw there two women with whom I am acquainted. They called out when they saw me: 'Come over and have a drink.' I went over and sat down with them, and after I had talked to them some, the banker, Fish, seemed to take offense at my being there. We had a few words and all at once he drew a revolver and shot at me and struck me. Then we both got up. I went out one door and he the other. He must have tumbled down the steps and fallen in going out."

Coroner Jackson made an examination of Mr. Fish's body. He said no fracture of the skull had been found. He believed death had been due to paralysis of the brain caused by a blow on the left side of the face or forehead. He thought that Mr. Fish had fallen on a stone or pavement and been injured, the skull would probably have been fractured. The coroner said that a knockout blow usually caused paralysis or concussion of the brain.

Fish's right eye was dilated while the left was contracted and that, the coroner said, was a symptom of paralysis of the brain.

ASK $2500 FOR EXPLOSION.
Suit to Recover Damages for Candle Factory Accident.

Robert C. Carter and Araminta Carter file suit Tuesday against the Goodwin Manufacturing Co. for $2500 damages caused by the candle factory explosion of June 14 last. Their home at 233 S. S. street adjoins the company's plant.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter state that the amount asked represents the damage done to their house by the explosion and the subsequent prejudice to the rental of the premises. The explosion, the petition states, threw timber, bricks, tallow and grease over the house and yard, and caused noxious odors, which have since clung to the building.

SECOND SUIT IN TWO YEARS.
Mrs. Clementine Vogt Again Files a Petition for Divorce.

Mrs. Clementine Vogt, for the second time within two years, filed suit Tuesday for a divorce from her husband, Anton Vogt. The couple were married August 17, 1891. Mrs. Vogt filed a suit for divorce in April, 1901. She alleged that her husband, without her consent, had withdrawn the action, she alleged, upon her husband's promise to mend his ways.

In the petition filed Tuesday, she alleges general indignities.

Protest Against an "L" Road.
Property owners on Lincoln avenue from Jefferson to King's highway, are to hold a meeting at Wm. Tepe's, 275 S. Laclede avenue, Tuesday evening, Sept. 15, at 8 o'clock to protest against an elevated road. An invitation to be present has been extended all property owners in the district.

TRAPPED BY DECOY LETTER

Detective Killian Arrested John H. Combs, Wanted by Salt Lake City Police.

By means of a decoy letter, Detective Lee Killian learned the residence of John H. Combs, who is wanted by the police of Salt Lake City. The man appeared with the boy, arrested the man at Tenth and Pine streets.

Combs is wanted for the alleged theft of $300, a team and buggy. Killian was assigned to the case last July, but having a very meager description of the man, was unable to catch him. Saturday the detective addressed a letter to the "General Delivery Department" of the Post-Office and learned that it was taken to the Silver House.

Tuesday he sent a messenger with a message addressed to Combs, asking the latter to meet him as soon as possible at 106 Pine street. The man appeared with the boy, and Killian told him he was wanted at the Four Courts. The Salt Lake police will be notified that Combs is in custody.

WHY FAIR BRIDGE IS DELAYED

Heavy Rains Have Interfered With Stone Contractor's Work, Explains Mr. Taylor.

Director of Works Taylor of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Co. appeared before the Board of Public Improvements Tuesday morning and explained why the new bridge over the main drive in Forest Park had not yet been built by the exposition.

1500 NEW SPRINKLING PLUGS

Commissioner Flad Wants Them So as to Reserve Fire Plugs for Fire Department Exclusively.

Water Commissioner Flad Tuesday morning presented to the Board of Public Improvements an ordinance appropriating $100,000 from the surplus in the water department fund for 1500 new sprinkling plugs.

At present the fire plugs are used by the sprinkling contractors and the street cleaning force.

It is Mr. Flad's idea to reserve these plugs exclusively for fire department use and to turn the new plugs over to the sprinkling contractors. They are to be charged a sufficient tax to keep the plugs in repair.

Indiscriminate use of the fire plugs, Mr. Flad says, impairs their effectiveness in times of emergency. Besides he says that the new sprinkling contract provides for more sprinkling than ever before.

The new plugs are to be scattered throughout all sections of the city.

MRS. LOUISA SIPPY DEAD

Mother of Well-Known Contractor Expired of Heart Disease Tuesday Morning.

Mrs. Louisa Sippy, mother of Joseph and Lillian Sippy, died at the home of her son, Joseph Sippy, 307 North Spring avenue, Tuesday, from heart failure.

Sippy is a well-known contractor. Mrs. Sippy was 62 years old. She had been in poor health since an attack of typhoid fever, through which she passed two years ago.

Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been made.

Trainmaster Killed by Train.
EMPHORIA, Kan., Sept. 14.—Edwin E. Ives, trainmaster of the middle division of the Santa Fe system, was killed here by being run over by a switch engine, and E. Austin, trainmaster of the eastern division, whose home is at Topeka, was struck by the engine and hurt, but not seriously.

The men had stepped off one track in the yards here to avoid one train and walked in front of another.

TEN YEARS OF LIFE A BLANK

The Strange Case of George
Nipper of Indian Territory.

DISAPPEARED IN TEXAS

WIFE THOUGHT HE WAS DEAD
AND MARRIED AGAIN.

Now Nipper Has Been Discovered in Denver and the Cloud Passing
From His Mind Enables Him to Explain His Disappearance.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

VINTA, I. T., Sept. 14.—For ten years the wife and family of George Nipper, a cattle man, have mourned him as dead. He had disappeared mysteriously and no trace had been found.

Ten years ago George Nipper, then one of the wealthiest cattlemen in the Indian Territory, left his home at Claremore and went to Houston, Tex., taking with him $5000 to buy cattle to ship to his ranch. His wife and child remained at home to take care of the ranch and expected him to return in a short time with a large herd of cattle to put on his ranch.

Nipper wrote his wife from Houston that he had landed there all right; she looked for letters from him in vain after that for awhile, but none came. Inquiry was made and the trace of Nipper was found. The matter stood this way for three years, and the people concluded that Nipper had been killed and robbed in Texas and the insurance company paid Mrs. Nipper $1000 as a compromise settlement. Mrs. Nipper married D. L. Denny, a prominent citizen at Claremore. After a few years they separated, and Mrs. Nipper returned to her ranch to make her home with her elder son, Henry W. Nipper.

Mr. D. Woodson, formerly of Claremore, is now in Denver, Colo., and about two weeks ago a former and successful man accosted him and asked assistance. Mr. Woodson at once recognized the poor wayward Nipper. Nipper recognized Woodson, but claimed his own name to be Williams. Woodson told Nipper of his career in Claremore and its sad ending with the Texas trip. Nipper's face cleared up and he told Woodson something of his misfortune. Nipper afterward wrote to D. L. Denny and told him additional facts. Nipper says he landed in Houston safe and sound, and in the course of his transactions there, started from his hotel to the depot, and on route was stricken with paralysis. He lay for nine years in the hospital, being unable to make known his name or place of residence. His memory gradually passed away, and upon his release from the hospital, he wandered aimlessly about, not even knowing his right name or from whence he came. He wandered on and on in his wrecked condition until the day of other days was turned into his clouded brain by his chance meeting with Mr. Woodson, his old friend.

As soon as the people of Claremore received this intelligence an investigation was at once ordered by the citizens of that town and Texas authorities. The investigation at once for Denver to identify Nipper and see if it was really he. The telegram received this morning from the Chamberlain says: "It is George Nipper."

The people of Claremore have wired Mr. Chambers to see that Nipper is brought home at once to his friends, where he can be cared for. Nipper has a son, Robert, who is now 16 years old and lives with his mother, George Nipper, has many warm friends at Claremore, who will cordially welcome him home and see that his wants are provided for.

FOREST FIRES SPREADING

Governors of Wyoming and Colorado
Make Joint Call on Government for Aid.

CHIEFEN, Wyo., Sept. 14.—Gov. Richards has been informed by telephone from Grand Encampment that for many miles along the Wyoming-Colorado line, north of Pearl, Colo., a furious forest fire is raging, devastating everything in its path. Every effort to subdue the flames has been exhausted without effect. Gov. Richards immediately communicated with Gov. Orman of Colorado and arranged for both to send a telegram to the secretary of the interior, asking for aid.

According to the latest reports there are at least 18 serious forest fires burning in Wyoming, and nothing of the nature of smaller fires in southern Albany County, that are destroying great swaths of fine pine timber in the Medicine Bow range and threatening mining buildings. Though a hundred miles from Cheyenne, the smoke from these fires obscures the sky here and the odor of burning wood is plainly noticeable.

DENVER, Col., Sept. 14.—But little progress toward checking the forest fires in different sections of the state is being made. At the head of Chicago creek, the fire is again beyond control. A vast scope of territory has been burned over and it is feared the towns along Clear creek will experience the same fate. The fire has destroyed the protection to the snow beds.

United States Forest Supervisor Henry Michaelson, who is conducting the fight against the fire in the neighborhood of Caswell, at the head of Flat creek, and men were dispatched with complete equipment to his aid. The fire has burned for several weeks, and has destroyed much valuable timber. Several summer resorts are in danger.

The Estes Park fires are burning slowly, but stubbornly resist all efforts to quench them. The fire in the neighborhood of Eldora have destroyed an immense quantity of rich timber.

SENATOR BARD NEAR DEATH.
California Statesman Is Not Expected to Survive Another Day.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 14.—United States Senator Thomas R. Bard is lying dangerously ill at the Van Nuys Hotel in this city. He is suffering from pneumonia, complicated with severe symptoms of typhoid and very weak heart action.

Senator Bard returned from California to spend several days fishing in company with Senator Quincey of Wisconsin. On Thursday he got wet, and on Friday morning complained of a cold and returned to the city. Friday evening and immediately went to bed at the Van Nuys Hotel. His temperature at that time was 104, and there were strong symptoms of pneumonia. He grew worse until late last night, when the services of physicians were held and Dr. Taggart announced that the senator probably would not survive another day. The upper part of his left lung is congested. There is also strong symptom of toxicemic poisoning.

Keep the system in good condition by an occasional dose of the Bitters. It will restore vigor to the system, prevent Malaria, Fever and Ague, and cure Sick Headache, Nervousness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Insomnia. Be sure to try it.

Our Opening A Huge Success

It was a source of exceeding gratification to hear the many flattering comments passed by delighted visitors at our Grand Opening yesterday. This great old store was taxed to its utmost with eager spectators and purchasers from early morning till closing time—it was the most enthusiastic and auspicious opening in our 28 years' career. It amply repaid us for the untiring efforts lent toward gathering the magnificent and charming array of fall and winter merchandise that is now on display here. This wonderful success urges us on. We propose to surpass all previous selling records this fall. It's values like these—SPECIALLY PREPARED FOR WEDNESDAY'S SELLING ONLY—that makes Famous the shopping center of St. Louis.

A prince only 6 years old has been enrolled in a Russian regiment of which his mother is colonel. Nothing is too absurd for monarchy.

RECIPROCITY AT HOME

In his memorial address in Chicago, Bishop Fallows, after denouncing the anarchy which knows no government and destroys rather than uplifts, went on:

"We also have anarchy of wealth, which is used, not for the welfare of mankind, but for his injury and oppression. The way to suppress anarchy is to keep in mind the sentiments of President McKinley and practice reciprocity at home, and their abroad."

Reciprocity at home—that applies with peculiar force to affairs in St. Louis.

The anarchists who disregard every moral and social obligation and undermine the political order by corrupting its source, the men who bribe, threaten and steal millions from the people through the connivance of officials whom they first denounce as enemies of society, not less dangerous than the lunatic assassins, who, crazed by frenzied rhetoric, shoot and stab presidents and kings.

Bishop Fallows' suggestion is timely. There is an "anarchy of wealth," as well as an anarchy of poverty. The only solution is in reciprocity—the recognition of mutual rights and the preservation of the organs of power will from sinister and selfish influence.

Boodles are anarchy. This is one of the plainest facts of the time.

Should the American consumer decide at the polls that it is pleasant to be skinned, what can be done about it?

COMING EASY FOR PRINCE CUPID

The Hon. Jonah Kalanualoa, more generally known as Prince Cupid, has been nominated by the Republicans of Hawaii as territorial delegate to Congress, and we are informed that "with Prince Cupid as a leader, the Republicans hope to carry the fall elections."

And why not? Cupid is an ever popular name, particularly in Hawaii, where the genial warmth tends to soothe the blood and keep the marrying parson and the ever-vigilant justice of the peace on the jump. Wherever civilization is found, there is a Cupid, and it stands to reason that any prince, in any land—especially one named Jonah—who is popular enough to be nicknamed "Prince Cupid," is popular enough to carry his town and county and the whole island, if necessary.

Besides, in this case, his opponent is a rude person named Wilcox, who is seeking re-election, and who came near being shut out of Congress because of a multiplicity of wives. Wilcox was thoughtless enough to marry all the women he admired, while Prince Cupid has wisely preserved his fancy free, thereby making himself not only an object of idolatry on the part of the ladies, but a savior of the nation, for he is the only one of the lot who is not a scoundrel. Because of his high standing with the feminine half of the population, the men may seize this opportunity to elect him to Congress and get him out of the country for awhile.

Viewing the situation at this distance, it would seem that the Hon. Jonah Kalanualoa has everything coming his way.

The fall is cramped for room, but there will always be space for one more boodler or briber.

WHERE GARBAGE IS PROMPTLY COLLECTED

The current number of Engineering News contains an article embodying the report of a special committee appointed to investigate the workings of the city garbage crematory at Trenton, N. J. The article contains much information regarding the disposal of garbage in American and European cities.

It appears that Trenton has no trouble about garbage collection. The city performs this duty for itself, with the exception of refuse and garbage from stores and markets, which is delivered at the crematory by private parties. As to prompt collection, the committee found that:

"The city garbage is collected in iron carts of approved make, holding about one ton and drawn by two horses. The carts collect from all parts of the city, daily except Sunday, and in certain districts, the number of trips being of a certain frequency. Each house is visited as many as two or three times each week, according to the season. The carts are without lights, as they are in every way, and so far as we know have not given any offense. Prompt and thorough collection of garbage is only a matter of a few minutes, and if a city can do the work in a satisfactory manner, why cannot a city do the work in a satisfactory manner? And if this necessary service can be obtained so easily and so cheaply, the city should take steps to build its own crematory and collect its own refuse. What is possible for Trenton, N. J., is not impossible for St. Louis."

When J. P. M. shall have merged all the steamship lines, Americans can be skinned before they arrive in Europe.

YOUTH AND AGE IN THE PULPIT

Again the aged minister sends up a cry of distress. This time it is Rev. Dr. Wortman of the Reformed Church at Saugerties, N. Y.

"What is wanted in these days," says Dr. Wortman, "is a 'kid' minister of ripe experience is turned aside for a golf player. The question is asked, 'Is he a jolly good fellow?' He is a 'kid' who gets the fashionable churches and the old minister is left to spend the remainder of his days as a 'faded' overdrawn, but there is enough truth in it to make commercial world young men are in demand, probably strain of getting on is too much for him, and he is old and weak and break under it. In the young men are preferred and in some business men over 40 are not employed. Energy, alert intelligence, "snap" are wanted. And men above 40, as it is claimed, are not always to be depended upon.

But why should the rule apply to clergymen? Not haste, but wisdom is supposed to be the qualification of a minister. It is no objection to him that he is a desirable dinner guest and a good fellow, but in his service to be merely social in the perverseness of that word?

Whatever may be the merit of youth in business, surely it is not enough that a man is a good mixer to qualify him to tell people of their eternal interests. A young fellow of 25 is not the best adviser for men and women of 50 in the supreme moments of life.

The thought isn't agreeable. But perhaps the fear is exaggerated.

The people of St. Louis must not lose sight of the fact that bribery of public servants is the most destructive of all crimes. It is essentially anarchic because it strikes at the very root of the foundation of public order and deprives every individual of the protection of a respectable and respected government. The protection of the boodles cases must be supported by all good citizens. Neither wealth nor personal influence should be allowed to prevail against the efforts of the circuit attorney. The people of St. Louis are fighting now against the wickedest, most sinister crime in the catalogue. Let there be no flagging of interest. Every citizen should enlist for the war.

ACCESSORIES AFTER THE FACT

Those who harbor any of the men charged with bribery, or who in any way aid them to escape or avoid arrest, are themselves in danger of the penalty.

In Monday's Post-Dispatch, the law on the subject of harboring or aiding a fugitive from justice to escape arrest and trial was published. The law is embodied in section 2365 of the revised statutes of Missouri. It prohibits all except husband or wife, parent or grandparent, child or grandchild, brother or sister from concealing any offender or giving to such offender, knowing that he has committed a felony, any aid with the intent that he may escape or avoid arrest.

It makes all persons harboring or aiding one who has committed a felony accessories after the fact, and liable to imprisonment in the penitentiary not exceeding five years, or in the county jail, or a fine, or both fine and imprisonment.

It is not safe to harbor or aid any man who has committed a felony to escape. Any man who tries to escape punishment by aiding a fellow conspirator to escape is making his punishment more certain; he is adding another crime to his list.

A few days ago a huge piece of plaster fell from the ceiling of the grand jury room at the Four Courts, narrowly missing J. K. Murrell. Had the foreman of the grand jury been in the room at the time, he would have been killed. Monday of this week another heavy piece of ceiling fell with a crash in Judge Ryan's room. Can the city afford to have the lives of officials and citizens placed in constant peril by the dilapidated condition of the building? Why not put it in such repair as to make it safe?

Perhaps this passage from Mr. Roosevelt's speech four days before the assassination of President McKinley has alarmed some of the trusts: "The vast individual and corporate fortunes and the vast combinations of capital which have marked the development of our industrial system create new conditions and necessities that demand a change in the old attitude of the state and nation toward prosperity."

St. Louis will be the first city of the United States to have a Chinese museum, and China is to have an immense exhibit in the World's Fair. It is easy to see already that whether the Fair itself shall be a financial success or not St. Louis is to be vastly benefited by the knowledge of St. Louis and the St. Louis region that will be obtained by the world in general through so great an Exposition.

The Republicans are charging that the Democratic campaign managers have already received campaign contributions from the trusts, while Democrats believe that the only hope of the truth is in the Republicans. There is any amount of opposition in both parties, yet the combines continue to multiply and to crush competition.

If Gladstone, on hearing that W. H. Vanterbilt had $200,000.00 in negotiable securities, declared that it was too great a power for one man to have, and that the government should look after him, what would he have said of J. P. M., who represents a capitalized power of $4,737,380,327, and is adding to it?

Circuit Attorney Folk has nothing to fear from the crowd of booted creatures now in jail. In hiding and out on bail. They are too thoroughly cowed to venture to raise their hand against him. It is not from that quarter that danger to the circuit attorney should be looked for.

Free delivery has put out of office a Missouri postmaster whose pay was only $5 for three months, and who always kept a horse burning all night so that a letter could be obtained at any hour. Such an officer may be missed, even with free delivery.

All the world now proposes to do the killing by Boer tactics. The simple Dutch farmer of South Africa has taught the greatest generals of the age the art of the war.

If the Iowans really desire tariff revision they will send Boles to Congress in place of Henderson. It is possible that they do not desire reduction.

We shall never have a perfect system of city government, but we can scarcely make a worse one than that under which we have been suffering.

With two new autos, the great Schwab may easily be fated never to return to the big trust that caused his nervous prostration.

The penitentiary barber comes next after the jail barber.

POST-DISPATCH SNAP SHOTS

It is unfortunate that so many men never grow out of the small boy's sense of humor.

The Beef Trust will be shocked at the economy of the French miser who lived on rats.

Senders of valuable packages have now to be careful not to get the new 13-cent stamp on them.

The oysters of Oyster Bay must have been sorely tempted to break their silence and join in the hurrahing for Teddy.

If the dogs that are visible on the streets between 5 and 6 a. m. were all licensed the city would certainly have had to buy more tags.

Post-Dispatch want ads appear to carry with them a moral influence. The prompt return of a gold watch seems to indicate this important condition.

The report that the Sultan of Turkey is paying a little money to many less distinguished persons that a part of a me of their old borrowings ought to be paid before they die.

Americans do not leave all the money that Paris acquires. The Shah's hotel bill there for 18 days was $28.00. Possible, however, Musker did Din was trying to imitate Am. Am. Am. while he was in town.

If we are now to have a petroleum trust that will take the place of Unseal oil and be quickly serviceable it should be set on the market in time to enable us all to paint our houses before the World's Fair opens.

Haltless women are refused admission to St. Mary's Church in Yonkers. This is all well enough if it does not drive the members to the theaters, where every woman of good breeding is expected to remove her hat.

The Tennesseean who drinks a jug of buttermilk and eats eight hens and 18 biscuits at a sitting is certain to be elected by the sagacious people who carry the eat what you please-and-as-much-as-you-please theory about with them.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

C. P. K.—Go to trainmasters' or superintendents' offices. ALD H. H.—Your 10-cent piece is mutilated and worthless. OLD SUBSCRIBER.—No, it isn't necessary to have a permit to enter the World's Fair grounds.

E. V. K.—Write to Adolph Brandenberg, secretary of the Board of Pharmacy, Jefferson City. The board meets in St. Louis on the second Monday in October. J. H. S.—The best plan is to advertise for the girls who came from the old country. Give date of their immigration, names and other particulars. If you think they are in Boston, advertise in all the papers there and write to chief of police, asking him to send them to St. Louis.

POST-DISPATCH'S MURRELL ACHIEVEMENT

Comments of the Press on the Importance of the Boodle Exposures to St. Louis and the Country.

From the Minneapolis Journal.

How easily one crime leads on to another is shown by the oath which the boodling St. Louis aldermen swore. Weing united in a corrupt league to betray the interests of the city they pledged themselves to accept death as punishment for betrayal of their common guilty secret, and thus opened the high way to some blood-curdling oaths for murder.

The confession of one boodler in St. Louis, the alderman who has been indicted for bribery, is a startling revelation of the proceedings of some Russian nihilistic society than of a conference of some despicable American boodlers. But, after all, the boodler is just about as much of a villain as the nihilist. The only difference is that the boodler is generally a "good fellow," but that so-called "redeeming trait" really damns him the more.

From the Clarksville (Mo.) Banner.

The old maxim that "every man has his price" may be true, but the crying demand today is for men whose price is so high that the bribe-seeking corporations cannot reach them.

In St. Louis we see evidence of a street railway corporation putting up $140,000 to buy a single franchise of the Municipal Assembly and a lighting company paying $47,500 for the passage of an ordinance.

Money has been recklessly used by the strong corporations to buy up legislators and legislative bodies. These financial vampires with no sense of duty save self-interest approach legislators with their damnable schemes men of strong characters and sound judgment are needed to promptly deliver the bribe givers into the hands of the officers of the law.

Most men are honest under ordinary circumstances. Some men are dishonest only under certain conditions. If it is needed are men who are honest under all circumstances and conditions. Betrayal of a public trust is a crime that deserves summary severe punishment, but when the people do not need most of all are men in office of such worth that an attempt to bribe them will be a passport to the penitentiary for the bribe giver.

From the Toledo (O.) Bee.

The revelation concerning the corruption in the city affairs of St. Louis are astounding. A large number of members of the House of Delegates, the legislative body of St. Louis, held regular meetings to arrange for bribery and they conducted negotiations with the "legislative agent" of a corporation that had large interests at stake and that had large sums to offer in return for franchise and other privileges. These men organized for bribery and they solicited bribes. They got their price and they had no shame when they accepted it. They had no shame that each knew the other was bribed.

That is a prevailing tendency. Public opinion is disregarded by men in city councils, in legislatures and in Congress. The public is honest, collectively, and it is not until it has become the chief condemnation of the American system. Corruption in the national government is not conspicuous. It does exist to some extent. The trusts and tariff beneficiaries do dictate legislation, but this is largely done through campaign subscriptions rather than through personal bribes.

From the Denver (Colo.) Times.

The lesson for the public in the astounding exposure of the St. Louis corruption is that the people's servants, however honest they are supposed to be, will bear watching.

From the New York Commercial.

And what of the honest citizens who bribed the St. Louis aldermen?

From the Paducah (Ky.) News-Democrat.

St. Louis is adopting the motto: "Let no boodler escape." But wouldn't it have been much better if St. Louis had locked the door before the boodlers got away?

From the Houston (Tex.) Daily Post.

St. Louis will make her boodlers look like doobledugs, judging from the way she is going after them.

ing evolutions, or, rather, through the passionate glide, the soulful wiggle, the ragged waltz. Nothing at all. A mere "bag-o'-shells."

A great surprise, an undiscovered joy, a momentary sensation, is waiting for the Four Hundred at Newport.

Mrs. Henry Watterson may roast them now, but wait, oh, wait till they learn the ropes!

Wait till they exhaust every resource for entertainment. Wait till baby parties, monkey receptions, private theatricals, smashing the ten commandments and other amusements fall upon their staid palates. Wait till they get the red-hot tip from St. Louis, and Mrs. Vanderbilt Stuyvesant gives a rag party with all the raggers to come, including the ragger glide!

Oh, just wait!

A Thought for the Day.

BY BASEBALL FAN.

No wonder that we feel so sorry.

If we would win, we'll have to hurry.

"Day by day we live and work; day by day we live and die," says John A. Joyce in his "Fatal Facts."

By this latter phrase John A. seems to intimate that we are all "dead on our feet." But we will agree to overlook this break if the old boy will unfold to us the significance of a "fatal fact."

Fruit as medicine is now the rage in Paris. Apples, grapes and cherries are especially recommended for their curative qualities. The juice, when properly distilled, has long been recognized as an invigorator. Corn has also been known to revive the drooping spirit.

Tom Sharkey announces that he will quit the "pug" business because his parents have requested him to do so. O admirable boy! (Why didn't he think of this before he became a twopenny?)

Mr. Nat C. Goodwin—don't forget the "Mr. Nat" going to breed French hoes. Maybe he thinks Maxine would look better if he should Percheron one than she would in an automobile.

AS TO JIMMY JOHNSON.

Many who have heard the Princeton students sing—

And I believe it's true, That when a man dies His nose turns blue. His nose turns blue. By the light of the moon.

O, Jimmy, Jimmy Johnson!

And other nonsensical doggerel in which Jimmy Johnson's claims to distinction are celebrated, may never have realized the deep significance of the name, says the Philadelphia Times. Jimmy was a runaway slave who took refuge at Princeton long before the war. The students helped to purchase his liberty, and he had been a figure on the campus for 62 years until he died the other day at the ripe old age of 88. He was a kind of mascot, and the college will find it as difficult a matter to survive his passing as will the University of Pennsylvania when it loses that faithful old negro known to many generations of students as "Pomp."

From the Louisville Times.

In St. Louis, as in Louisville, and wherever they exist, members of city council and legislative bodies take a solemn oath to preserve absolute silence and the sort of honor that is reported to exist among thieves, but when confronted by the law, run in a wild rush for the immunity offered the few as witnesses against the many.

From the Detroit Free Press.

This is an age of concentration. In All Baba's time, it took 40 thieves to do what 15 have done in St. Louis.

From the Wichita (Kan.) Eagle.

St. Louis, as in Louisville, and wherever they exist, members of city council and legislative bodies take a solemn oath to preserve absolute silence and the sort of honor that is reported to exist among thieves, but when confronted by the law, run in a wild rush for the immunity offered the few as witnesses against the many.

A DAILY MAGAZINE

A FLY'S MARVELOUS VISION.

Much Magnified View of the Eyes of a Common House Fly.

It is often said that the fly has two eyes, each containing a thousand eyes. This statement is only partially true since the compound eye of insects is really one, though it has many facets, each of which is capable of receiving a picture, and transmitting it to the animal's perception. The remarkable thing about these compound insect eyes is this:

While in the human being only a small portion of the light rays can enter the eye at one time and only a few of these are in focus so as to make a perfect image, the fly can see nearly all around the horizon at any given time, and all the rays fall upon the eye, or nearly all of them are constantly in focus. This means that the fly can see as well on top of him and to rear as he can in front. It also explains why his flyship is so hard to catch!

BAD ENOUGH AS IT WAS.

"Young man," said the black-clothed gentleman of sombre mien, "do you know that you are hurrying on to destruction?" "I do, sir," admitted the youth, for even then he was hurrying to the quick-lunch room—Baltimore News.

SHE GOT THE LATEST.

Mrs. Style: I want a hat, but it must be in the latest style. Shopman: Kindly take a chair, madam, and wait a few minutes. The fashion is just changing—Tid-Bits.

JOY OF THE MORNING.

I hear you, little bird, Shouting away above the broken wall. Shout louder yet; no song can tell it all. Sing to my soul in the deep, still wood; The wonderful heart of the wisest word. I'll tell it, too, if I could.

Oh, when the white, still dawn Lifted the skies and pushed the hills apart, I've felt it like a glow, like a heart— (The world's mysterious stir). But had no throat like yours, my bird. Nor such a throat like yours, my bird. —Edwin Markham.

Public Sentiment as to Boodling.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: I notice in today's issue that Sheriff Dickmann said today that Kelly would surrender in one hour.

How did he know this? If he knew this so positively, how is he could find some clew on which to work?

Also, how is it that one of his deputies, Kelly, got his way without any arrest as the cracked soprano?

The question which presents itself to a great many minds is, is Mr. Folk getting a square deal from the sheriff and police department.

St. Louis. FAIR AND RIGHT.

Policemen Should Be Sober.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: I would like to ask through your valuable paper, if the Jefferson Club cannot find men enough to appoint on the police force that will at least keep sober on Sunday? I saw one on last Sunday about 7 p. m. on a car on Sixteenth street, between O'Fallon and Cass avenue, and he got off on Cass avenue and showed that he was very drunk. He was instructed by his number let him call at 18 Bidle market.

St. Louis. JOHN CHERRY.

Subways Needed Here.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: The rapid transit problem is what is needed to be solved for our home and only by the use of tunnels or subways can St. Louis hope to grow for her rapidly increasing population. Every cellar on the way of the city is being dug out and made into a freight depot and the main receiving department can be centrally located in the heart of the city.

Any harm coming to Mr. Folk and those who are most deeply interested in letting the law take its peaceful course. With this good clew of two years without a case of violence to Mr. Folk or those aiding him in enforcing the law against those who have disgraced the city.

St. Louis. LAW AND ORDER.

Abolish the House of Delegates.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: As "Citizen" says, there was some sense in Mr. Murphy's argument. I must also say his argument is very amusing. He says that the House of Delegates is a waste of money and that the people would be paid about $500 each per year; the corporation would be a waste of money and the people would be paid about $5
